Kennison's Corner

Dear Parents,

My School Advisory Council (SAC) is currently working on by-laws and discussing an Alumni Association. I must say thank you to them for their commitment and enthusiasm to St. Malachy. Don't forget parent-teacher conferences are this week. If you bring your children to conferences, you can have them sit outside the classroom or you can check them into Extended Day. October 12th – 14th are 1 pm dismissals. Extended Day is not open on Friday, October 14th. Fall Break is October 17th – 21st. When we return to school, Red Ribbon Day is October 27th. The theme is Celebrate Life – Live Drug Free. Students can wear their pro-life shirt or any red shirt with uniform bottoms on this day. We will be doing the Living Rosary on October 27th at 2:15 pm in the church as well. Students are encouraged to bring a rosary to school to participate in the Living Rosary. Have a safe and relaxing Fall Break.

In Christ,
Mrs. Saundra Kennison
Principal

Dear Parents,

In early September, Mrs. Stutz was diagnosed with colon cancer. She will be starting intense Chemo treatments beginning next Tuesday. Our goal is to stay positive with our eyes fixed on God to guide us during this time, so that Mrs. Stutz may continue to do what she loves, which is to serve this ministry. In Mrs. Stutz's absence (which is TBD), we will have former Clover Aide, Mrs. Fran Hammond in place. We are so blessed to have Mrs. Hammond back to help us and our Clovers during this time. We will continue to provide a safe learning environment for our students. We ask for your prayers for Mrs. Stutz, her family, and for all the St. Malachy students and staff. We pray that God will keep all the families and students of St. Malachy safe, healthy, and help them to do their very best every day!

The St. Malachy Community is praying the St. Peregrine Novena starting on October 11, 2022 which is Mrs. Stutz's first day of cancer treatment. Will you please join us?

You can sign up here to get the prayers each day of the novena:

Hernandez Happenings: Social Emotional Learning

Mrs. Hernandez kicked off her social emotional learning lessons at the beginning of September. Each classroom has a lesson once a week for 30 minutes and discusses different topics. The program being used is called Second Steps and includes activities, videos, discussions, and reflections. 1st through 5th grade begin each lesson with a brain building activity. Here is a summary of what each grade level has been working on this past month.

1st-The first grade has been working on paying attention, why it is important to pay attention, and what good paying attention looks like. We have also talked about how everyone gets distracted and strategies they can use when they encounter a distraction.

2nd-Second grade has been identifying skills they use to get better at something. We have also talked about how everyone makes mistakes and while they can be frustrating, mistakes help our brains grow and learn. This leads into helpful and unhelpful thoughts. Second grade identified how thinking a certain way can help them achieve their goal or not.

3rd-Third grade has been exploring their brains and what happens in their brain when they learn a new skill. Third grade now knows that the connections in their brains get stronger the more they practice a skill. In addition to practicing to grow their brains, they can also learn from others and try a new way of doing something!

4th and 5th-Fourth and fifth grade have been working on setting goals and the criteria for setting a good goal. When setting a goal, they learned that one must have a plan, check their progress, and roadblocks they may encounter while working towards their goal and change their plan if necessary.

Middle School-Sixth and seventh grade started Second Step lessons talking about empathy and helping others. We established guidelines and expectations for the classroom to keep a safe space for all. Then, the two grades learned about how to grow their brains and create new pathways. The classes then talked about growth mindset and fixed mindset and how thinking a certain way can affect our learning. Eighth grade also set guidelines and expectations for the class and then we dove into exploring their identities. They filled out an identity map and will use it in future lessons to see how they can use their personal strengths to develop an interest, skill, or ability.
